Homepage Overview

The CQ MoneyLine homepage is a source of recent news on money in politics and is the starting point for the creation of specific searches.

From this page, you will be able to access reference sources including: a calendar of key filing dates, information on contribution limits, a list of abbreviations for PACs (PACRONYMS), political party abbreviations and campaign finance reports from the Congressional Research Service.

CQ MoneyLine relies on a powerful database that compiles vital information from multiple sources, including the FEC, IRS, House and Senate, and delivers that information to those who monitor money in politics.

The screenshot displays the CQ MoneyLine website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with tabs for "PACs & 527s", "CANDIDATES", and "LOBBYING", along with links for "Log in", "Help", and "Glossary". Below this is a search bar with a dropdown menu set to "Individual donor" and a search criteria bar with "Name" selected. The main content area is titled "Campaign finance news" and features an article about the Republican National Committee's spending. To the right, there are sections for "Donor fact files", "Track MoneyLine Content", "Filing Guidelines", and "Data Sources". A "Budget Tracker" sidebar is visible on the left, and a "CQPOLITICS" banner is at the bottom right.

Campaign finance news

The Daily Query

The Republican National Committee spent nearly $5 million on ads yesterday opposing Democratic presidential nominee Barack Obama. The large, one-day expenditure could be a sign of what's to come between now and the Nov. 4 election. The RNC has only disclosed four independent expenditures this year; it has reported having $76.5 million in the bank — more than four times the amount of the Democratic National Committee.

Other notable filings with the Federal Election Commission and IRS over the past 24 hours include:

Using the campaign finance lookup tool

1. From the homepage, you can access the campaign finance lookup tool, which enables you to perform complex searches. This tool is available on every page of CQ MoneyLine including the PACs & 527s, Candidates and Lobbying landing pages that also offer additional search features.

2. Using the pulldown menu you can pinpoint campaign finance details for:
 - Individual donors
 - PAC/Party/527 as donor
 - PAC/Party/527 as recipient
 - Candidate as recipient
 - Disbursement
 - Sponsored travel
 - Independent expenditures

View contributions by individual donors

- Using the campaign finance lookup tool, you can search for precise information on individual donors using multiple search criteria. You can search for individual donors by name, zip code, state, city and employer/occupation. Using the pulldown menu to the right of the search criteria, you can select specific election cycles.

In the example below, the search specifies the individual donor by “Name,” “State” and “Employer/occupation.” Also, the 2007-2008 election cycle is selected. Click “Go.”

The screenshot shows the CQ MoneyLine search interface. The search criteria are: Individual donor, Name, Contains, Gates; Individual donor, State, Contains, Washington; Individual donor, Employer/occupation, Contains, Microsoft. The election cycle is set to 2007-2008. Buttons for GO and CLEAR are visible.

- The next screen displays your search results.

Candidates

Candidates for federal office are required to file reports with the FEC. Click on a candidate to view his or her financial profile, including the latest FEC filings, campaign receipts, sources of funds, disbursements, and related PAC and committee activity. Also available are rankings of a candidate's financial standing in a given cycle, as well as top committee donors to a politician's PAC.

Candidates often file with the FEC for more than one type of race. If an individual runs for a different federal office (House, Senate or presidential) he or she will likely have a different profile page for each office on CQ MoneyLine. Check all of the candidate's profile pages to get complete information.

Search for lobbying firms (via the landing page)

1. To view lobbying registrations by lobbyist name, issue or a specific date range, click on the “Lobbying” tab. CQ MoneyLine includes lobbyist registration information dating to January 1, 1999.

The screenshot shows the CQ MoneyLine website interface. At the top, there are navigation tabs for 'PACs & 527s', 'CANDIDATES', and 'LOBBYING'. Below the navigation is a search bar with a dropdown menu set to 'Search all' and a text input field for 'Enter a name'. The main content area is titled 'Lobbyists, lobbying firms and clients' and contains a search form for lobbying registrations since January 1, 1999. The search form has three radio button options: 'By name or text in registrations' (selected), 'By issue', and 'Show lobbying registrations for a specific date'. The 'By name or text in registrations' option has a dropdown menu for 'Lobbyist name' and a text input field for 'enter text'. The 'By issue' option has a dropdown menu with 'Accounting' selected. The 'Show lobbying registrations for a specific date' option has two date input fields for 'Since' and 'and'. There are 'GO' and 'CLEAR' buttons at the bottom of the search form.

2. The lobbying summary report includes mid-year and year-end totals for every filing period dating to July 1998 as well as quarterly and semiannual reports for the current year. Use the selector to refresh data from the desired cycle and change the tables below. From the lobbying landing page, you can view the organizations and industries that spend the most on lobbying.
